What is it that I myself can draw?
What is it that I really want to draw?
I was wondering about such a thing when it hit me. In 2008, I had gotten a grasp of the two concepts "Burnt Ruins" and "Black Market." Inside of me, I have no clue about the era of the post-war situation in Japan, yet there are two concepts kept shining inside of me. The root of this manga came about when I encountered a short book in my teens, called the "Burnt Ruins of Jesus" by Ishikawa Jun. That inspiring book allowed my ideas to flourish in this manga "ReMember."
